Students say 'no' to drugs and alcohol

By DAVE WHALEY
Staff writer

The message is simple enough: Stay away from drugs and alcohol.

To many people, the very idea of those substances is so abhorrent they cannot understand how anyone would ever get mixed up with them in the first place.

Getting in with a bad crowd, suddenly feeling lonely and needing a "friend," and wanting to try something different are all reasons, but likely, they all result from one thing: the absence of an early education about the evils of drugs and alcohol.

AND EARLY EDUCATION doesn't necessarily mean junior high school. Young children 5 or 6 years old can be taught and shown the dangers of chemical substances.

President of Britz Music Inc. of Godfrey wants to show young children what and what not to do when it comes to alcohol and drugs.

Among other things, Britz Music, headquartered in Utah, develops presentations designed for young children.

Last fall, Bechtold appeared at Miltchell School with a presentation aimed at guarding against the kidnapping of children. She was at Mitchell School Wednesday.

THIS YEAR, the presentation was different, but no less important.

"We really believe early education on drugs and alcohol is important these days," Bechtold said. "The kids now are much more aware than they have been in the past."

"When I first came in this morning, they knew all the names. Cocaine, pot, hash — they were naming them all."

Bechtold's presentation focused on five main themes:

1. Get your highs naturally, not chemically.
2. Don't give in to peer pressure.
3. All you've got to say is "no."
4. Respect your body.
5. Like yourself and know your home after their 9th-inning win over the Los Angeles Dodgers. Only Whitey, Tito Landrum, Ozzie Smith and Cardinals General Manager Dal Maxvill were brought through the crowd.

nap the kids and use them in photography rings and things like that."

Bechtold said Ryan has started a program in the Chicago-area schools, with athletes from the Bears, Chicago White Sox, Black Hawks and Bulls speaking out against drug abuse.

The message was: drugs and alcohol can ruin you inside.

"What we try to have is a presentation that can teach the children something good, something positive," Bechtold said. "I think they need to get something out of it."

BECHTOLD SAID SHE was part of a group that met with Illinois Lt. Gov. George Ryan recently. Ryan is one of the leading advocates in the fight against drug and alcohol abuse.

Ryan said the fight almost certainly has to start with education at the elementary level," she said. "In fact, she drugs and kidnapping were often linked. Some people kidnaped the kids and use them in photography rings and things like that."

Bechtold said Ryan has started a program in the Chicago-area schools, with athletes from the Bears, Chicago White Sox, Black Hawks and Bulls speaking out against drug abuse.

RYAN HAS SAID he would like to start a similar program in the southern part of the state with the St. Louis athletes, Bechtold said.

"It's really amazing," she said. "You never would have thought 20 years ago we would be preaching against smoking. That was the thing to do then. Now we get the kids to learn what is right and wrong early, it can definitely help."

The program has been performed at three area hospitals and Bechtold is waiting for responses from other schools and organizations in the area.

Bechtold can be reached at 466-1442.

Coal dust emissions problem solved

By JACK C. VENTIMIGLIA
Executive editor

GRANITE CITY — The problem of coal dust that recently floated into homes on the city's east side reportedly has been solved.

"It was just swirling on the street," Mayor Von Dee Cruse said at Tuesday's City Council meeting.

GRANITE CITY STEEL said the problem was caused by a faulty conveyor belt in the powerhouse above its coke oven hopper. Ward 1 Alderman Casimir Skubish said.

A conveyor belt brings coal up above the coke oven, he said. At the conveyor belt's summit is the point where much was uncovered.

With some through the powerhouse and carried coal dust into east Granite City.

WHEN SKUBISH brought the coal dust problem to the company's attention, the company agreed to immediately enclose the powerhouse with a metal enclosure, he said. He said the company has further agreed to place a permanent cover on the powerhouse by Nov. 15.

Skubish was pleased with the company's responsiveness, but not with what he perceived to be a lack of response from the Illinois EPA, he said.

With some through the powerhouse and carried coal dust into east Granite City.

WE'RE NOT GETTING ANY response from the Illinois EPA, he said.

Skubish charged.

The support of the EPA is needed,

Skubish said, to help the city and industry work together to keep the city clean.

"We need to improve the image of Granite City so we're not known as a dirty town," Skubish said.

He said the agency's Collinsville office did not heed his complaint about the coal dust.

THE DISTRICT ENGINEER in the EPA's air pollution division in Collinsville, Jeff Benbenick, said Wednesday morning he called Granite City Steel on Oct. 9, the day after he talked with Skubish.

Benbenick said the company agreed to cover the coal transfer point.

about such a reform.

"I think what is needed in the area of malpractice reform needs to be done. There's a logjam in the court system. We need some way to control the suits. Some people are just on a fishing expedition. It could help cut the costs of the court system by weeding out frivolous suits."

But limits on awards would have to be studied, Watson said.

"I don't think you can put an arbitrary limit on awards because each case is different. I do believe in standards of indemnification. I think someone's coming for arbitration to go by. But if somebody is maimed for life, it's hard to put a price on that," he said.

Watson isn't the only one who hesitates at limiting awards.

Groups lobbying to reform liability laws

By SUSANNE INDELICATO

No fail-safe solution to the insurance problem has been proposed, but insurance industry officials, regulators and customers are taking steps to alleviate the problem legislatively.

Business groups and the Illinois Municipal League are expected to join in a major lobbying effort next year to reform Illinois' liability laws.

Such a reform may mean caps on awards and attorney's fees and a panel to review lawsuits and screen out "frivolous suits," according to Sally Whalen, assistant vice president of the Illinois Manufacturers Association, which is spearheading efforts.

"One of the reasons the IMA is addressing the issue," she said, "is liability insurance coverage and tort reform are becoming a major factor for small businesses. They pay for higher liability insurance with money that could go for research and design, hiring employees and expansion. The money's not being used for building the economy,"

More than double

THE COST OF INSURANCE

The successful effort by the IMA,

Illinois Medical Society this year to lobby through a new law setting curbs on liability lawsuits has encouraged the IMA, Whalen said.

State Sen. Frank Watson agrees, with forming a screening panel,

Venice reduces liquor licenses

By VALERIE EVENDEN

VENICE — All it takes is a few good women, paraphrasing a Marine Corps recruitment slogan, to change the minds of a city council.

Venice aldermen voted unanimously Tuesday night to rescind an amendment voted last May that changed a restriction in the liquor license ordinance. The amendment had expanded the total number of available licenses from nine to 15. CAROLYN WILSON and her neighbors had no need to present their protest petitions, containing 522 signatures, to Venice City Council Tuesday night.

The petitions were signed by Venice residents in opposition to a proposed package liquor and convenience store being located in the 1000

Community service ordered in tax case

Vernon E. Guebert of Granite City appeared before U.S. Magistrate Gerald Cohn in East St. Louis Oct. 8 for sentencing. Guebert had previously pled guilty to seven counts of failure to file federal tax returns, according to the Internal Revenue Service district director.

Guebert, who operated A-1 Body during 1979, 1980, 1981 and 1982, had been indicted June 27, 1985, on 15 counts of failure to file employer's quarterly federal tax returns, resulting in income taxes withheld from employees' wages.

Cohn sentenced Guebert to 3 years probation and 100 hours' community service to be performed at St. Elizabeth Medical Center in Granite City. He was ordered to file all returns due within 45 days and to pay all taxes due and owing to the IRS.

Pennant unifies two-state area

Victory has many authors; defeat has few. But despite that somewhat negative saying, there is something mighty positive about the baseball Cardinals capturing the 1985 National League pennant.

Their 7-5 win in the game and 4-2 triumph in the playoffs over the Los Angeles Dodgers, who beat the Cardinals yesterday, qualified the St. Louis athletes for the World Series. Their return home today was witnessed by thousands at Lambert Airport.

The "Interstate 70" series opening Saturday in Kansas City and Missouri in a national and world sport like baseball, no teams can claim to be better; the Royals and Cardinals proved on the playing field their right to compete in the final best-of-seven games competition.

Although often looked down upon or ignored, the Midwest is America's heartland where some of the best and most expensive — living and quality of life can be attained and enjoyed.

There are many sparkling features, both new and old, in the state's two biggest population centers. Perhaps the World Series coverage will afford opportunities for St. Louis and Kansas City to "put their best foot forward" while they are being viewed, listened to and read about by people everywhere.

A strongly positive aspect of the Busch family's, General Manager Dal Maxvill's, Team Manager Whitey Herzog's and the Cardinal players' successes is that they have unified the entire St. Louis bi-state metropolitan area.

Illinois produced Maxvill and Herzog, and fans attended in record numbers, regardless of Illinois as in Missouri, North, South, East or West, we're all in this together, cheering and encouraging the Cardinals to new heights of achievement.

It is especially pleasant to see a pennant won by a team picked to be last in the National League's Eastern Division by such leading publications as Sports, the Sporting News and Sports Illustrated. We wonder who they're going to predict will win the Series.

Regardless of how they size it up, we'll boldly go on record with this forecast: The Royals are going to turn purple, feel blue and see red by the time the dust of battle settles next week.

We agree. It will be in the best interest of each taxpayer, big or small, to mark an X for Yes in each of the two College District 522 ballot proposals.

Vote Yes on college proposals

In addition to choosing school board members and college trustees, Nov. 5 voters in the Belleville Area College District will decide whether to authorize a 14-cent increase in the tax rate limit (9 cents for education and 5 cents for building operation).

The decision is likely to have a big impact on this region (Madison, St. Clair, Bond, Washington, Monroe, Montgomery, Perry and Randolph counties) and this newspaper urges citizens to vote "Yes" on both the education fund and building fund ratification proposals.

As outlined here previously, this community has much to gain. The plan can help establish the Granite City Campus (GCC) as a full-service college and industrial training center.

Library facilities and the curriculum will grow and more up-to-date instructional equipment will be installed. By the time a $6.5 million program is completed here, GCC will be a "high-tech" center unmatched in the bi-state area. Of the new tax dollars in the district, 53 percent will be spent at GCC.

With GCC serving the northern part of the big college district, the southern section is served by the Red Bud Campus. Agricultural laboratories are to be built in Red Bud. Expanded classes, academic programs and library and student services are planned there.

In the center of the district, Belleville, there is a need for more space for career classes. As BAC sees it, "Building space to house our present physical education, art and music classes, we can create space for career courses, which will find additional time and private sources for physical education and fine arts activities, building an indoor recreation complex and a civic center are the least expensive way to provide the career space we need."

These facilities also will give the college an extra dimension as a cultural and recreational center, including a theater in the civic center and an NOA-size swimming pool and recreation center. We also are interested facilities for senior citizens and new outdoor athletic fields."

Aside from the economic boost the construction program itself can provide, these proposals also are being cited as a way to demonstrate the industry and labor sectors' endorsement has been given by the Leadership Council, Southwestern Illinois' chief economic development group.

We agree. It will be in the best interest of each taxpayer, big or small, to mark an X for Yes in each of the two College District 522 ballot proposals.

City funds must be spent wisely

When voters cast ballots, they expect their investment of trust in candidates to pay dividends.

One service expected of elected representatives is wise handling of tax dollars.

This matter was discussed at Tuesday night's Granite City Council meeting. The issue was over-time pay within the city's various departments.

There was a brief exchange of remarks between Mayor Von Deere Cruse and a veteran alderman, Sam Whitmer.

It was suggested budgets should be closely watched to avoid overtime leading to departments going over budget.

Cruse said overtime is paid in every department every year. This is true, and with good reason in many cases. After all, if firefighters are faced with a rash of fires, they can't just knock off at midnight and head home.

Whitmer said there was little to do about the overtime in the departments except (tongue in cheek) shoot the dog when they run out of money.

Taking a more conservative stance, Cruse said measures to make sure departments do not go over budget should be taken before those departments go into the hole.

Confident of his own position on the issue after years of council experience, Whitmer took a wait-and-see attitude.

Perhaps the alderman is right and some departments will trim their budgets. And, of course, the city would jeopardize the public welfare by closing down departments if budgets are not met.

But that does not mean the city's hands are tied. In the business world, the reality is that if you go in the hole, you replace those persons who are causing problems so that your business can get back on its feet. The same should be true in the city.

If department heads can't meet their budgets, the city's elected officials owe it to the public to consider replacing those department heads. If the city's elected officials refuse to make sure tax dollars are wisely spent, the public owes it to itself to vote these people out of office.

It is the one way to ensure tax dollars are wisely spent.

Fiscal conservatism in the name of the public's welfare is no vice.

Board meddling inappropriate

Talk about being out of line and the Madison County Board comes to mind.

The board voted this week to oppose the Belleville Area College tax hike request. They said they didn't like the college seeking a permanent tax.

The County Board ignored the wisdom of some of its members, such as Richard Worthen, D-Alton, who said the board had no business getting involved in another county's district's business. After all, the BAC board can get headlines just as easily by opposing future County Board actions.

The resolution before the board was presented by Harold R. Byers, D-Highland. Though BAC invested much time in determining what it considers the best way to raise its taxes, Byers apparently thinks a bond issue is the better way to go.

By his vote, he seems to be saying:

"Don't be concerned that BAC ranks 34 out of 37 in funding for similar colleges."

"Don't be concerned that students have year after year been paying higher tuition to avoid forcing tax increases on voters."

"Don't be concerned that BAC has not, since its inception, asked for a tax increase."

Don't be concerned that not all members of the County Board are even in BAC's taxing district.

Don't be concerned that BAC supporters point out that education could be a critical selling point to businesses interested in locating in this economically depressed area.

Don't be concerned because Harold Byers, who has inserted his nose into another taxing body's business, says he has a better idea. He's figured out what's best for the college. A bond issue is all that's needed, he says.

Byers and all those board members who went along with the resolution are way out of line. The public is entitled to know what BAC plans to do with the tax referendum. Education can prove a bulwark against increasing unemployment and related problems and the public should bolster that defense.

Despite Byers and those who went along with him, the next time the County Board seeks a tax rate increase, you're likely to hear BAC's board taking a stand that's smarter.

After all, BAC's business is education.

As for the County Board, it should mind its own business.

Take care of your friends, the cardinals

To the Editor:
It will soon be an excellent time to begin feeding birds. Small amounts invite and attract them with your feeders. The most common food goes on, with greatest portions in February and March, when natural foods decrease.

Elderberries and dogwood berries have a short stay on the plant. Robins and cardinals take care of these immediately.

Most commercial seeds are excellent mixtures. If you mix your own, the Amish mix is 40 percent millet, 15 percent each of sunflower and milo and 5 percent each of wheat and cracked corn.

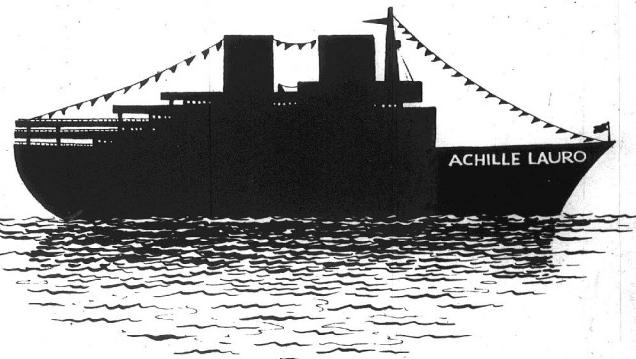

An invitational mix for finches is 40 percent finch mix and 20 percent each of niger, canary seed and sunflower hearts.

Many birds feed from the ground, sparrows and doves. This also supplies them with grit, necessary for digestion. A good supply of water is important.

Legislators urged to help banks' customers

To the editor:

Recently the Coalition for Political Honesty and I released a study of 155 major Illinois financial institutions which found that escalating fees and high minimum balance requirements are pricing many smaller customers out of the Illinois banking system.

Dozens of banks are now charging unreasonable and artificial fees for even the most routine banking services. In the past four years, the cost of banking for a typical family has increased by 100 percent to an average of $107 a year.

Our study identified such anti-consumer banking practices as long check-holding periods before consumers are given access to their money, requiring signatures on checks and high deposit requirements to open accounts.

These abuses are accompanied by exorbitant service charges and high minimum balances on both interest-bearing and non-interest checking accounts.

In addition, we found some banks even charge up to $5 just for a customer's telephone inquiry about his account.

Our states have succeeded in holding down the high cost of banking through legislation or regulation.

The New York Banking Board, for example, has regulated the length of time that financial institutions may hold consumer deposits.

Illinois and even the banks in that state, concluded that the regulation is not adversely affected banking institutions, while at the same time it has provided important benefits to consumers.

Illinois has for too long lagged behind in reforming its banking system and making it fairer and more accessible to the average customer. That is why we're urging the General Assembly this month to adopt several steps which could provide relief for banking consumers.

Our "Lifeline Banking" reform package would:

— Require all Illinois financial institutions to offer "check-free" checking accounts to write eight free checks per month with no minimum balance and no service charge.

— Limit check-holding periods; and — Require all banks to cash government checks for public benefit without a fee.

Illinois needs Lifeline Banking to insure banking services are held within affordable limits for average citizens. Anyone interested in reading a copy of our statewide survey of bank charges and fees should contact me.

Smaller companies have plenty of reasons to be concerned with Uncle Sam's growing competitive threat. In California, for example, the owner of a tire repair business lost his job when the National Guard because the Guard opened its own retreading plant in Utah.

In Indiana, an insulation dealer found himself competing directly with the Department of Energy. And the prognosis for the future does not look good.

City aids Alpha Center

GRANITE CITY — A request for funds from Alpha Center to the City was approved in the amount of $5,000 by the City Council Tuesday.

"This is a good program," said Alderman Paul Fisk. "There's a lot of people getting help who would otherwise have help."

Alpha Center representative Judy White said $14,000 was needed to pay off the center's mortgage and Alderman Brett Hanke requested the city allocate the funds. The city council voted to come out of county's allotment to the city of community development funds.

County board votes against college plan

By a voice vote, members of the Madison County Board voted Wednesday to oppose the tax hike proposed by the Illinois Department of Higher Education to finance a new college. Some members disagreed with the vote, saying it was improper for one taxing body to become involved in another agency's tax proposal.

Harold Byers, who introduced the negative resolution, said he would propose a bond issue to a permanent change in the college's tax rate limit.

"We can get carried away with things like this," Alderman Sam Whitmer said, noting the city allocated only $5,000 last year.

Questions were raised concerning why the city had more than $5,000 to allot without taking money from other funds. Hanke changed his motion from $14,000 to $5,000 and the measure passed.

"This is a sensible way to do it," Whitmer said.

The Alpha Center provides assistance to pregnant women who need a home. The center is located in Granite City at 2104 Cleveland Blvd. The center can return next year for additional funds.

Venice reduces Funeral services

Mrs. Wilson attended the meeting with the documents in hand, but the council's rescinding action on a motion by 3rd Ward Alderman John Ervin precluded her presentation.

SHE DIDN'T MIND at all and addressed the group, saying "I want to thank the council. I guess you don't need these 522 names which we had polarized. Thanks a lot."

Although the rumored applicant had not submitted a formal request for a liquor license, he had let his interest in operating a package liquor store become widely known around town, according to those opposing it.

Increased traffic and the clientele are a business concern, and could create problems in the neighborhood, Wilson and others said at earlier meetings.

MAYOR TYRONE ECHOLS, liquor commissioner for Venice, said at the Oct. 1 meeting, "There has been no application to come across my desk so far."

The mayor raised the issue at this week's session. "We have been having some dilemma with liquor licenses and I had asked the council to consider this problem. Does the council have anything to say?"

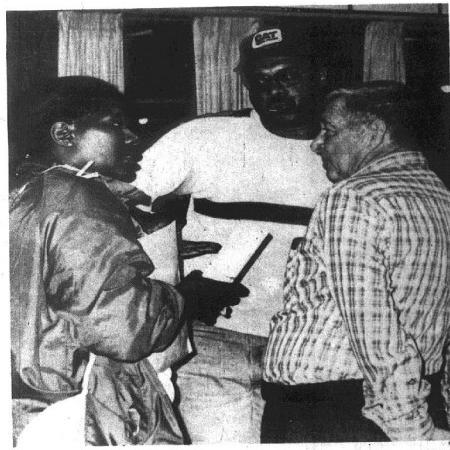

Wilson responded, "I offered the motion to reduce the number of licenses from 15 to nine, returning it to the original number. The roll call vote was unanimous."

THE ORIGINAL ordinance passed in 1968 set a maximum of 15 in all sales classifications — package liquor stores, taverns and clubs.

All liquor licenses are assigned at the present time but are subject to renewal on Nov. 1.

There are three taverns, four package liquor stores and two clubs open in the city.

A new license to sell package liquor was granted to Adam's Market, a grocery store located at 1001 Logan Ave., in May. However, only

Groups lobbying

Matteson, but it is probable a hearing will be held locally, according to Dick Rogers, deputy director of consumer services for the Department of Insurance.

"The part of the thing we hope to do is to get the insurance companies involved with the liability reforms," he said. "We'll try to address our market assistance section, and bring expertise to bear in finding markets."

Rogers noted that many times when a company can't find liability insurance it's because the company doesn't know where or how to look.

"That liability awards would be a 'terrible deprivation of the right of the injured party,'" Bosslet said. "I think they're trying to put a cap on that is inappropriate. Leave it to a panel of experts."

But reformers in the court system argue the only target of IMIA's lobbying efforts.

"We're looking at making sure adequate advanced notice is given when policies are going to be cancelled or renewed," he said.

"I think it would be a terrible step backwards. I think juries, by and large, are doing the right thing," Bosslet said.

"I think it would be a terrible step backwards. I think juries, by and large, are doing the right thing," Bosslet said.

To help police the industry, the Illinois Department of Insurance is planning a series of statewide public hearings on specific insurance availability problems facing various interest groups.

The first hearing was Sept. 30 in Granite City.

Pools, self-insurance possible alternatives

Self-insurers provide their own coverage up to a certain amount. After that limit is reached, an excess carrier pays claims. But even an excess carrier will limit his coverage, Kiely said.

Another alternative is forming an insurance pool with other similar industries or entities. Such pools have become popular among utility companies, accountants and fuel distributors — those considered high-risk.

Companies or agencies that form such pools would be assigned to an insurance company and the losses would be shared by the pool, according to Frank Weaver, supervising insurance agent for the Illinois Department of Insurance.

"You've got to be cautious because you can't get excess insurance," warns Tom Kiely of Insurance Service Center in Granite City.

Although the alternatives have drawbacks, some insurance is more protection than no insurance.

Foreign trade conference here

An international trade conference on national, state and local perspectives of international trade will be held Wednesday, Oct. 30, at the Hilton Inn, Collinsville.

Local speakers will consist of presentations and concurrent workshops focusing on fundamentals of international marketing, finance and shipping, advanced approaches to expanding markets for local goods and services, comparative financial market trends and opportunities for agricultural products, legal aspects of international trade, and the necessity of import export documentation.

AN UNIQUE FEATURE will be a "matchmaker" providing personal opportunities for local business people to meet with foreign buyers.

Registration of $35 per person includes a luncheon and seminar materials.

The conference is being sponsored jointly by the Foreign Commercial Service of the U.S. Department of Commerce (St. Louis and Chicago district offices), the Small Business Administration (Springfield and St. Louis offices), Illinois Department of Commerce and Economic Affairs, Illinois Department of Agriculture, Illinois and Missouri District Export Councils, Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, Tri-City Regional Port District and its Foreign Trade Zone, Illinois Power Co. and the Region 1 Commerce and Growth Association as well as other local and state organizations.

Business signs may be regulated

GRANITE CITY — Discussion of a future sign ordinance already has support of some aldermen and the mayor.

As we want progress, we're going to have some rules, Mayor Cruse said at Tuesday's City Council meeting when it was moved by Alderman Paul Fisk that businesses along Nameoki Road might oppose a restrictive sign ordinance. Fisk said council members need to be ready for public hearings.

Describing the variations on signs along Nameoki Road, Alderman Sharon Perjek said the strip looks like Las Vegas.

Her proposal to look into a sign ordinance, the mayor said, has the support of the new city coordinator, Alan Orthals.

If an ordinance is approved at a future date, Cruse said, it will provide businesses with time to change their signs. He said other communities such as St. Louis have a sign ordinance that stipulates signs will be on buildings rather than being on poles along the street.

No date for proposing an ordinance was set.

GC sewer, dredging fund requests voiced

Lt. Gov. George Ryan visited the Metro-East area Oct 10 to hear from local officials in his capacity as chairman of a "Build Illinois" roundtable.

In the morning, Ryan heard representatives from East St. Louis and Belleville make their pitch for funding of $2.5 million for modular housing and sewer projects. During the afternoon, he heard from Edwardsville where he heard pleas for money for Madison County projects.

Less than $80 million will be available for "add-on" projects from the total "Build Illinois" sum of $280 million, Ryan said. To date, he has received 100 projects for 54 of a total 100 projects.

He said he hoped to complete his review by the end of November and make recommendations to Gov. James Thompson by December 1.

In the evening, Ryan heard requests for $500,000 for repair of Granite City's sanitary sewers from State Rep. Sam Wolf, D-Granite City, and for a minimum of $500,000 for dredging of the Madison County Ditch and Canal Canal from Walter "Shang" Greathouse of the Metro-East Sanitary District.

Mayor Lon Smith of Alton Twin Rivers said the amount of $250,000 needed to build an industrial park on the site of the former Amoco refinery. The project is dependent on an environmental study of the site and the hoped-for donation of the property by Amoco. Smith described the city as the "hottest" industrial site in Illinois.

Major Bert Wuehner of Alton asked for $1 million for improvements in the Alton sewer system and sewage treatment facility, saying both are needed to prevent flooding in the city and relieve the community's high unemployment.

State Sen. Sam Vadalaheine, D-Edwardsville, spoke for funds for a connector highway between Illinois Routes 156 and 157. He was instrumental in behalf of returning a proposed industrial park project on the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville campus to the "Build Illinois" project list.

"This park, if it ever was wiped out of the ground, is of some importance to the economic health of this area," Vadalaheine said.

Township still needs umbrella insurance

By SUSANNE INDELICATO
Staff writer

NAMOEKI — The "umbrella coverage" insurance is still being sought by Nameoki Township, according to Township Supervisor Harry Briggs.

The township has obtained liability insurance to cover damage to the township's vehicles and equipment, Briggs told the Town Board of Trustees Tuesday.

"I think we'll end up being covered all the way," Briggs said.

Several area government entities have had problems obtaining insurance this year.

In other action Tuesday, Trustee Norm Hall said contracts for a well in Dobrey Slough are still being reviewed by attorneys. The owners of the well, Mr. and Mrs. John and Hemlock Avenue, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Cooper, have requested some minor changes in their contract, Hall said.

"We hope to get it cleared up this week," he added.

The contracts call for Nameoki Township, Granite City and the Metro-East Sanitary District to share the cost of operating the well.

The well will be operated for one year to determine its effect on lowering the water table in the slough.

Charges of murder and attempted murder were dismissed. Sentencing is set for Nov. 22.

Thomas Inman, 34, Granite City, is appealing a life sentence imposed for murder and armed violence.

PRIZE-WINNING CORN SHUCKER Martha Dorris

Granite City is shown at a mid-October contest at Rockome Gardens near Arcola, Ill. Judged on the number of ears of corn shucked in one minute, Mrs. Dorris placed second. The competition was part of an annual "horse farming and craft days" celebration. Other activities included a walking plow contest, horse-powered threshing, steam-powered threshing, sorghum pressing and apple cider making.

Hearing on mobile home next to Mitchell School

By RACHEL NEWSOME

CHOUTEAU — An Oct. 24 zoning hearing has been set by the Madison County Board of Appeals for a special use permit on a lot located next to Mitchell Grade School, reported Supervisor Morris Miles at Monday night's Chouteau Township Board meeting.

The request concerns proposed placement of a mobile home at the site. The hearing will be conducted on the grounds in question at 10:15 a.m. Miles said he expects some unfavorable views on the request.

THE POSSIBILITY of an enterprise zone involving Chouteau Township was discussed at a meeting from the Chouteau-Alton Twin Rivers

A $15,000 request to the Madison County Community Development department has been granted, it was announced.

The township sought the funds for use in completing a Long Lake improvement project in Chouteau.

THE PROJECT includes construction of a new drainage system and reconstruction of Lakeview Drive and Rapp Road.

Approval was given by the board for a $225 allocation to the Chouteau Senior Citizens group; the money will pay for a bus for a nine-hour trip by the seniors to the St. Louis Union Station for the Shaw's Garden.

The board's next meeting will be Monday, Oct. 23.

2 plead guilty

William Chilcutt III, 27, of 5200 Lakeview Drive and Kyle Archer, 24, of 1715 Tulip Court pleaded guilty Oct. 11 at the St. Clair County Circuit Court to charges of first-degree aggravated battery for their involvement in the death of a Troy man, Steven Gersteneker, and the knife wounding of John Fink of Troy near East St. Louis.

Charges of murder and attempted murder were dismissed. Sentencing is set for Nov. 22.

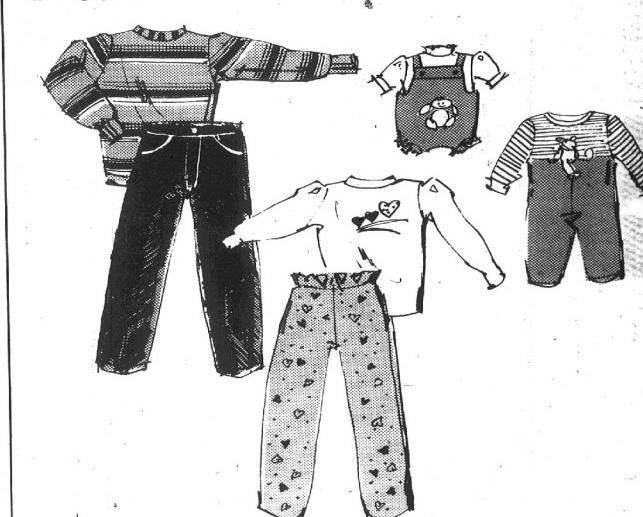

Thomas Inman, 34, Granite City, is appealing a life sentence imposed for murder and armed violence.

Peer groups help assure high-quality health care

By OLIVER M. HOLMES
Social Security Manager

One of the provisions of the 1983 Social Security Amendments established a prospective payment system for hospitals. The purpose is to reduce the care provided by making the government a "prudent buyer" of health care without interfering with the ability of any person to obtain quality care.

Since the Medicare program was established in 1965, inpatient hospital care under Medicare amounted to almost $33 billion.

In 1966, federal expenditures for Medicare amounted to $1.1 billion; by 1982, inpatient hospital care under Medicare amounted to almost $33 billion.

Originally, payment under the Medicare program was based on what was considered to be reasonable costs for inpatient care and reasonable fees for the practice of medicine or surgery in the area.

Alternately, the entity must have available to it the services of a sufficient number of physicians engaged in the practice of medicine or surgery.

The PRO reviews the validity of the diagnostic information provided by the hospital; the completeness of the procedures of quality care is assured through the efforts of peer review organizations (PROs).

A PRO is defined as an entity composed of a substantial number of licensed doctors of medicine or osteopathy engaged in the practice of medicine or surgery in the area.

Alternatively, the entity must have available to it the services of a sufficient number of physicians engaged in the practice of medicine or surgery.

The PRO reviews the validity of the diagnostic information provided by the hospital; the completeness adequacy and quality of care; and the appropriateness of the hospital admissions and discharges.

A hospital that does not have a PRO contract will not be eligible for Medicare payments.

Visiting Nurses boost local health and morale

If it wasn't for the Visiting Nurse Association (VNA), June Scheriger feels she would not be able to cope.

She lives with her 99-year-old mother, Mary, in a home in Granite City. The Visiting Nurse Association provides a home health aide who assists Scheriger in caring for her mother, bed-ridden since breaking her hip 16 months ago.

The VNA is a non-profit organization that provides nursing home aide services, physical therapy and other health services to residents of St. Clair and Monroe counties and part of Madison County.

IT IS FUNDED in part by the Tri-Cities Area United Way.

"I could not do it without the visiting nurses," Scheriger said. "Mom needs a lot of care that I can't give. When the aides come to help her, I can get out of the house and go to the store."

"If it wasn't for the nurses, I couldn't cope. It would be a constant battle with bed sores because she [her mother] really takes a lot of care."

Patty Franklin, a registered nurse with the VNA, visits Mrs. Thompson every two weeks.

SHE IS TYPICAL of someone who needs a lot of care, finally, a visit to a hospital revealed a cancerous tumor on her spine. It was removed, but Niebur is now confined to a wheelchair, paralyzed from the waist down.

Mrs. Thompson occasionally becomes confused.

"Every time I come in, I have to re-introduce myself and explain what I'm doing," Franklin said, smiling.

When Franklin went in to check her, Mrs. Thompson was asleep, a small blanket over her shoulder. Around her bed were gifts made by her grandchildren.

"She WOKE UP and started talking, sometimes laughing. She was sometimes difficult to understand.

Franklin told her what a good patient she was while checking her breathing.

"Everything I looked at had such good caring as you, I'd be out of a job," Franklin said.

AFTER LEAVING Mrs. Thompson, Franklin and Scheriger talked.

Franklin noted Mrs. Thompson seemed somewhat restless.

The two women wandered around

Mrs. Thompson's grandchildren and great-grandchildren and a birthday card she received from President and Mrs. Reagan.

"She's very proud about that," Scheriger said.

AT ALL COST STOP, a small dog barked in the window. Franklin was greeted at the door by the dog and by 58-year-old Mary Niebur.

After being in and out of hospitals for a year, Niebur was told there was nothing wrong with her. Finally, a visit to a hospital revealed a cancerous tumor on her spine. It was removed, but Niebur is now confined to a wheelchair, paralyzed from the waist down.

Franklin received a hearty welcome from both Niebur and the dog. After having her blood pressure and respiration checked, Niebur did exercises with the help of VNA physical therapist Claudia Loethen.

AFTER SEVERAL "wheelchair pushes," Niebur stood using a walker and Loethen's and Franklin's help.

"I did better than I thought I would," Niebur said. "I don't feel good, but I feel better."

They rested and talked for a few moments, watching the dog, which belongs to Niebur's son.

NIEBUR IS VISITED by a nurse every two weeks, and also is visited

VISIT BY A FRIEND. Patty Franklin, a nurse with the Visiting Nurse Association, checks the blood pressure of patient Martha Thompson, 91, who is bed-ridden.

by a physical therapist twice per week.

In a typical week, Franklin will make between 40 or 50 such calls. She monitors vital signs, changes catheters and dressings, and instructs her patients how to take care of themselves.

"A large amount of my job is educational," she said. "You'd be surprised the number of people we teach to read thermometers."

"OUR MAIN GOAL is to teach people to take care of themselves so they don't need us."

She also touches patients to monitor their own vital signs, bathe themselves and give their own injections.

"It feels good to know you're the one accomplishing that. If it wasn't for you, they would probably be in a nursing home."

Another big part of her job is simply getting to know the people. This is important, even if it means just remembering the names of their grandchildren.

"SOMETIMES THEY appreciate that more than the medical help we give. It lets them know somebody cares."

She has worked for the Visiting Nurse Association for the past three years and finds the job satisfying.

"She also does social evaluations. Once a 14-year-old girl lost a baby and Jewish Hospital in St. Louis asked us to go in and check for any signs of abuse," she said.

"I'm sure there was some neglect. The girl was probably allowed to run around too much. But there is a fine line between abuse and neglect."

ABUSE AND NEGLECT are not just problems facing children; older persons are sometimes victims, she said.

The VNA charges $35 for a nursing visit.

"Many of the people we serve have a doctor's office or hospital," she said. "Because of that, they won't go in there in an ambulance, and there is a $50 co-charge for that. To have a catheter changed in a doctor's office might cost about $100."

VNA ALSO SERVES as a liaison between patients and doctors.

"Most patients won't call a doctor just to say 'I don't feel good,'" she said. "We can do a lot of treatment for them. In some cases, we are stopping them from being hospitalized."

The VNA charges Medicare and insurance companies for whatever they will pay toward a patient's care. The difference is made up with money from the United Way.

State travel centralized

Robert H. Tapscott, acting director of the Department of Central Management Services, has announced contracts have been signed with World Travel Associates of Springfield and Travelers of Illinois of Chicago to provide business travel arrangements for state employees.

"The Governor's Travel Control Board is pleased to have taken this step toward better travel management through an initiative of the Governor's Office of Control Board Committees and the Legislative Audit Commission," Tapscott said.

"The contracts specify that state agencies making travel arrangements through the contract agents will be guaranteed the lowest cost available on reservations.

"We have been moving steadily closer to a comprehensive management program over the past two years. By utilizing lowest fares and taking advantage of government corporate discounts, we believe state agencies will be able to make their travel dollars go much farther. We want state agencies to begin using these travel agents to make business travel arrangements," he said.

A report by the auditor general's office released last November said Illinois could possibly save $2 million through a centralized travel procurement program.

Appeals on court sites dismissed

Appeals raised on "convenient forum" issues in over 30 different lawsuits against railroads and airlines in St. Clair and Madison counties filed by injured workers from out-of-state were disposed of by the Illinois Supreme Court last week through "supervisory orders."

The high court instead of issuing full-fledged opinions in each case as it has in the past, either ordered the circuit courts to dismiss the cases or to proceed with trials based on prior Supreme Court rulings on establishing venue through a "convenient forum."

The court generally has dismissed most cases in which all the parties or prospective witnesses are from long distance away from Madison or St. Clair unless the defendant railroad or barge line did not raise the issue under appeal.

Most of the cases dealt with were brought in St. Clair County, but a few were out of Madison County.

The lawsuits included injuries allegedly sustained in Texas, Louisiana, Tennessee, Kentucky, Arkansas and Indiana.

Two Illinois counties have been a magnet for several years for Federal Employers Liability Act lawsuits filed over the nation brought against railroads, and Jones Act lawsuits against barge operators, filed on behalf of allegedly injured workers in those industries.

10 vying for 4 spots on Granite City board

Granite City (Ill.) Press-Record.
Thursday, October 17, 1985 - 9

Alan Crider

Alan Crider will be seeking another term on the school board Nov. 5.

Crider, 36, currently serves as the board secretary. A member two years, he is a teacher at Wydown Junior High in Clayton and has bachelor's and master's degrees in education. He formerly headed the district's Gifted Students program.

Crider lives at 4034 Stearns Ave. in Granite City.

"Important to this race are candidates who are not associated with single issues or parties," Crider said. "My voting record shows I am not afraid to vote my conscience even if it will be a 6-1 vote. Also, my voting record shows that I am casting votes for both factions of the board, weighing and deciding on each decision."

Crider listed financial concerns and the ability to attract quality teachers, administrators and support staff as important issues.

Ruth Lahr

Ruth Lahr is an account executive representing the board.

Lahr, 61, has 36 years of experience as a teacher. She served many years in charge of the district's Chapter I reading and mathematics program.

Lahr holds a master of arts degree in education from McKendree College and a master of arts degree in education from the University of Illinois and is certified in guidance and counseling.

She lives at 330 Lenox Ave. in Midlothian.

She said the major issues are the question of her eligibility on the ballot (in light of questions about that from Robert Crider of Granite City) and a cutback in administrative personnel.

Lahr said the district has gone from an $8.2 million deficit to a balanced budget in her two years on the board and the district has recouped over 75 percent of the 192 teachers laid off in 1983.

"My most gracious thanks go to the many citizens who helped us pass the $6.6 million bond issue while also expressing confidence in your Board of Education," Lahr said.

Gerald McKeahan

Gerald McKeahan is one of seven newcomers trying to win a seat on the school board.

McKeahan, 37, was a teacher and coach for 13 years. He was the head football coach at Granite City High School, South for three seasons.

"I feel we need to initiate new ideas to maintain a high standard of education for our children," he said.

McKeahan listed student growth, financial situations, retention of teachers and units as goals.

"I would work towards the goal of uniting the board, administration and teachers," he said. "In achieving this goal, we will encourage and nurture the education of each student of School District 9."

Sheila Moran

Sheila Moran seeks a position on the school board Nov. 5.

Moran, 37, is office manager at a Belleville-based firm and studied business administration at SIUE.

"I would like to see a balancing of the male/female ratio on the board," she said. "Women spend so much time shaping the lives of children."

She feels the district is recovering with the passage of the 1984 bond issue and looks to the future to add forces to gain momentum in the district.

She added an attitude that the people of the district are willing to work together because we care about providing our children with the finest education possible. I have already started by offering a post office box number open to hear the opinions of the community."

Mark Maynard

Mark Maynard is a Nov. 5 candidate for the school board. Maynard, 25, is the assistant pastor at Calvary Pentecostal Assembly. He is a bachelor of science degree in speech communication from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville and is a graduate of the Free Gospel Bible Institute in Export.

Maynard lives at 6 Glory Lane. "I am interested in the education of children," he said. "I feel that with my interest and background, I would help direct our school system toward progress and excellence in the 1980s."

Maynard said emphasis must be placed on the "basics" of education, and lines of communication between the system and the community must be open.

"Together we can make our community 'first, by far' in education," he said. "We cannot afford to give our children less than our very best."

Vicki Sebastian

Vicki Sebastian is running for office in the school board election Nov. 5.

Sebastian, 31, describes her occupation as "domestic engineer," and said she is concerned with the "deteriorating quality of the public

Lane, 39, is a general foreman at American Steel Foundries and is currently serving on the Granite City Appeals Board. Graduate of Granite City High School and attended Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, majoring in business management.

Lane lives at 1734 Bremen Ave. in Granite City.

"I feel the district has turned around in the past two years, and I want to work with the members who made it possible. I will work to keep it in good shape," Lane said.

Lane said he will strive to keep the district on a strong financial ground and get the most for the taxpayer's dollars.

E. Gene Ross

E. Gene Ross, who spent 37 years in federal civil service, will be seeking his first public office in the school board election Nov. 5.

Ross, who will be 59 on Election Day, was the chief of the printing facility at the Army Depot in Granite City for 16 years and was later assigned to Manpower Management, involved in training and personnel matters.

He has also served 16 years with the Grand Lodge of Masons of the State of Illinois.

Ross lives at 41 Riviera Drive in Granite City.

"I have observed the changes and progress being made these past two years," he said. "I have also observed some reluctance and lack of cooperation. To effectively implement programs, cooperation and an open mind are essential."

Ross' goals are to assure superior educational opportunities to maintain an excellent work force, to maintain a reasonable budget level; and to assure that the interests of all citizens are respected and considered.

Donald Lane

Donald Lane, a Democratic precinct committeeman, is seeking a sound business and bidding procedures, he said.

Jolene Travis-Terrell

Jolene Travis-Terrell is seeking a spot on the school board in the Nov. 5 election.

Terrill, 35, is a homemaker and works part-time as a teller at ACU Community Credit Union in Granite City.

"I have two children in the district and I want to work to keep Granite City superior in education by working with the board and teachers to get the best education possible for our children."

Lane said he will strive to keep the district on a strong financial ground and get the most for the taxpayer's dollars.

"I have two children in the district and I want to work to keep Granite City superior in education by working with the board and teachers to get the best education possible for our children."

L. Monroe Worthen

L. Monroe Worthen is seeking another term on the school board.

Worthen, 52, has served continuously on the board since 1960, the longest of any present member. He has served three years as president, three years as treasurer and several years on the Citizens Advisory Committee.

A graduate of the St. Louis University School of Commerce and Finance, Worthen currently serves as a business and tax consultant.

He lives at 2345 Fortune Drive in Granite City.

"I wish to continue to provide the best quality educational opportunity possible for the children of our community," he said.

Worthen believes the board is solely a policy-making body and members should restrict themselves to that function.

Goals to achieve include improving methods of communication in the system, and maintaining financial stability through continued use

Six Mile plans autumn events, spotlights BPW

The October meeting of the Old Six-Mile Historical Society was held at the Bethel Evangelical Free Church. Georgia Engelke, president, presided and the group's apple festival was reported to be a big success. Plans were made to have another apple festival year.

The Society is holding a rummage and bake sale Oct. 17 from 10:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. On Friday, Oct. 18, a rummage sale only will be held from 8:30 a.m. to 12 noon at the Lincoln Place Center.

Francis Hawk, membership chairman, reported that membership dues are being paid in October.

Acquisition chairman Margaret Lexow read a long list of donations which included a piano given in 1954, donated by the Community Music of Galesburg.

Dorothy Lionberger of Madison donated a chair purchased in 1892 and a doll's cradle made over 100 years ago.

Floyd Jordan, a member of the Mid-East Antique Vehicle Club, presented a "dash plaque" to the Old Six-Mile for co-sponsoring an antique vehicle show Sept. 4 at the museum grounds.

Evelyn Fillee, Alvina Thoreau, Dorothy Johnson and Sarah Pope served refreshments.

The next meeting will be held Nov. 4 at 7:30 p.m. at the church. Mrs. Alma Beckman will tell about the Strackeljahn family.

Marguerite Barker, program chairman, presented the speaker Anneliese P. Smith, a member and past president of the Illinois Federation of Business and Professional Women. She also introduced other BPW members who were in attendance.

The speaker related that, in 1923, the BPW established and maintained a small park site where the City Hall now stands, at a cost of $300 per year.

The local club was responsible for planning the street designs from letters of the alphabet to full names. At a cost of $1,800, the BPW financed the change and erection of new street signs in the entire city.

Until 1929, an employment bureau was maintained by the club.

Activities for 1930 included help given toward establishment of mail service in the section of the city called Tri-City Park. In that year, BPW cooperated with other organizations in permanently routing Highways 3 and 10 along Avenue and the new viaduct in Venice.

In the 1930s, the BPW sponsored an education program at the YMCA. Typing, business English and arithmetic were taught from 3 to 6 p.m. five days a week. The first week's attendance was 22, with ages ranging from 17 to 50 years of age.

In 1938, after several years thereafter, BPW raised funds for a hot lunch project for school children, donating $156 at one time for the work.

In May 1941 we organized the St. Elizabeth Hospital Auxiliary and helped to obtain federal grant of $15,000 for an addition to the hospital. Smith said, "We donated $200 toward establishment of the Illinois Federation's Celia M. Howard Fellowship Trust, which is a master's program in international law and international management. Membership is awarded each year to a BPW member. We also were promoting the sale of war bonds, and supporting the YMCA and Salvation Army.

"In 1953, an essay contest was held on the subject, 'What Can Be Done to Make This Community a Better Place in Which to Live?' Books were donated to the new Venice Library.

"In April 1957, Elvira Thurber was appointed to serve as BPW president. BPW standard signs were donated by club members Elvira Thurber and Verna Lengel. We became a charter donating member of the Granite City High School Foundation, and we still help this scholarship program.

"Granite City BPW headed a drive for funds to purchase a building for the Granite City Firemen's Mutual Society ($100,000 was collected); presented the St. Elizabeth Hospital Auxiliary with a gift for its 25th anniversary; held our first annual style show in 1966 — and we will have our 19th annual show on Nov. 16 of this year; raised the money for the new Army, senior citizen to men in Vietnam; helped parties for mentally retarded children, underprivileged children and young girls from Coordinated Youth, and also placed flags in homes and offices.

This was a first for Illinois and Granite City.

"Practical politics courses were given to women in the community. Each session was well attended. A 'Women Involved' seminar was held, open to all women in the community, and over 100 attended. Thursday SPORTS

Cards win; bad bellies and Royals

To borrow a phrase from KMOX Radio personality Jack Buck, Wednesday's Cardinal-Dodger game was one for "bad bellies."

I suppose maybe I take sports too seriously. My wife says I do, anyway. I don't watch them for the enjoyment, she says. "I get too upset when they're losing or lose."

Anyway, here's the pitch. The Cardinals' National League pennant clinching victory over the Dodgers was just another game. A typical Cardinal game; one for bad bellies.

Wouldn't you know that the end of the game would come around dinner time. When you're trying to watch the game and eat at the same time?

My stomach was in knots. It's amazing I was able to keep anything down.

But then, just like two-rescuing Alka-Seltzers, Jack Clark, with one resounding swing of his bat, saved the game and maybe a sleepless night.

Can you imagine it? What it been like had the Cardinals not pulled it out. Later that night I'd have been there, laying in bed, tossing turning with visions of Pedro Guerrero, Mike Marshall and Tom Niedenauer dancing in my head.

Wow, does that ever sound like a nightmare!

But, as it was, even with the Cardinal victory, I don't think I got any sleep anyway. You know, those darn Royals.

Okay, okay.

Sure, I was cheering for them. I wanted the Royals to edge out California and then beat the Blue Jays. But hey, now we're talking Royals vs. Red Birds... In the Show-Me Interstate 70 World Series Big Time. Last year, 1984, with the Cardinals took on the Browns has there been an all Missouri World Series. And now, it's the Redbirds all the way. It has to be.

Anyway, there I laid, trying to sleep. Tossing turning. Thinking.

"Boy, I sure look good in the Cardinals. It looks like John Tudor will be able to pitch three times in the Series!" I thought.

"Ozzie's hot. Jack's getting back to form. Pendleton's in top defensive shape and it looks as though our speedy outfielder is back in the act. Sure, Vince Coleman will have recovered from the 'Killer Tar' by then."

Ah, things look pretty good. Just about to drift off to sleep....

Suddenly that old tune, "Kansas City" comes to mind. "Kansas City, Kansas City, Here I come," O'boy, just what I needed.

Son of a gun. Just when I get rid of thoughts of Bill Madlock and Guerrero in pops visions of George Brett, Willie Wilson, Hal McRae, Jim Sundberg and Lou Piniella. What's this??!!

It took a season to dispose of a ghost like Keith Hernandez and now we've got to deal with Lonny Smith!!!

Tell me it isn't so.

And what about the Royals' pitching. Geez, there's a bad-tempered guy named Dan Quisenberry who can whip that ball past a batter like it came from one of those Midwest tornadoes.

Geez, here we go again. I'm getting that feeling again.

Rolling over and looking at the clock. Two-thirty three in the morning.

Thanks, Jack Clark for the reprieve, but it looks as though I'll take that Alka-Seltzer anyway.

With Victory Over Lancers Warriors win league championship

By GREGG OCHOA
Staff writer

BELLEVILLE — If Joe Gray was hurting, you couldn't tell it from the sides.

Gray, the Granite City High School soccer team's sweeper back and one of its captains, was the glue that held the Warriors together on defense Wednesday night.

In fact, Granite City clinged to a 1-0 lead and won the 1985 Southwestern Conference championship over Belleville East. The SWC title was the fourth overall for a Warrior team and its third outright. Last year, Granite City was tri-champions.

The victory also allowed goalie Terry Dutko to post his ninth shutout of the season. Granite City finished SWC play with a 5-0-1 mark. The Warriors are 10-2-0 overall.

Gray also suffered a pulled groin during the Tournament of Champions, anchored the Warrior defense. And, his header knocking the ball away from the Lancers' C.J. Easton, in a game possibly prevented a late-stage attempt.

"Joe was actually ready to play (Tuesday)," said Granite City coach Gene Baker. "But, we wanted to use him here because we felt this was an important game for us."

Gray will rest this week, but will be ready for regional action this Saturday.

Since the injury, Gray has been using weights to help rehabilitate the muscle pull.

"(The trainer's) got me sitting on a table with a 10-pound weight on my ankle and he gets me to straighten my leg out," Gray said. "I do five sets of 20 on each leg."

The injury didn't appear to slow Gray during the game or hamper his mobility.

"It didn't really bother me that much," Gray said. "But if we had a slow down I could feel it tightening up."

After Jeff Zukas gave the Warriors a 1-0 lead in the first quarter, the Warriors tightened the noose on the Lancers.

Zukas' goal came with 14:37 left in the quarter and was set up by Brett Broadwater.

"We've had difficulty getting our kids to talk in crucial situations," Baker said. "Finally we got (East) spread and Jeff was able to walk through."

In the second quarter the Warriors had two more chances to ice the game but missed connections.

On consecutive rushes, Dave Detrousse and Brett Bjorkman both missed the open side of the goal as their attempted headers sailed just wide.

The missed opportunities didn't upset Baker as much as a couple of calls that went against his team.

Late in the final quarter Scott Biason was given a red card for unsportsmanlike conduct. Baker off-sided and he touched the goal after his soft shot was stopped.

It was Biason's second card in less than a minute and the Warriors had to play the remainder of the game shorthanded.

GALLOPING GARY. Granite City High School's Gary Sikora dribble by one Belleville East defender and starts toward Justin Webster during Wednesday's Southwestern Conference soccer game in Belleville. The Warriors won the game 1-0 and secured an outright (5-0-3) league championship for the Warriors.

With the Warriors leading by a goal and West having the opportunity, all Biason could do was watch from the bench.

As a senior playing for the conference championship, but on the bench it's really hard to take," Biason said.

"I had been warned," he added, referring to the earlier yellow card. "But I didn't touch him."

Baker was also bothered by the play. And, perhaps it was the culmination of officiating this season that also angered the Granite City coach.

"It's frustrating," Baker said.

"And I'm sure it is for Belleville as well."

Biason's ejection was really an after effect of an earlier play. Minutes before, the Warriors were awarded an in-direct kick near the Lancer goal. As Joe Gray neared the ball to take the kick, Lancers Chris Canale appeared to be standing on the ball not allowing Gray to get near it.

Both Gray and Biason, Warrior captains were near the area, and when Cassarino went down, apparently after the Warriors grabbed the ball, all three players were given yellow cards.

But Gray and Biason pleaded their case.

"The whole thing came about when we were trying to restart and they were standing on the ball," Baker said. "I pushed to get the ball and both got cards."

"But it's not just that," the Warriors coach continued. "the other problem (of the officiating) is it leads to violent play. If a player gets a yellow card, he might not play the rest of the game.

"But it's not just that," the Warriors coach continued. "the other problem (of the officiating) is it leads to violent play. If a player gets a yellow card, he might not play the rest of the game.

"It encourages physical play."

Nonetheless, with the extra man East picked up the pace. In fact the Lancers held the Warriors to just one shot on goal in the fourth quarter. For the game, Granite City outshot the Lancers 14-8.

Late in the game, Dutko came up with a key save when he came out to clear a direct shot and tipped Rob Nab's shot wide of the goal.

Granite City will play St. Louis University High School at Junior Billikens Field on Oakland Avenue tonight at 8 p.m.

The Warriors move into regional play this Saturday when they host Madison at 11 a.m.

"We plan on really going to work now," Baker said. "We'll be a different team (in the tournament)."

Featured In National Magazine Patti Martin's more than 'A Face in the Crowd'

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Executive Sports Editor

Patti Martin, the 15-year-old Granite City citizen who earned a gold medal in this summer's Prairie State Games, just keeps piling up.

It was the third week of July when Martin swam her way to the gold in the 100-meter butterfly at the University of Illinois. Proud she was, and so were her parents.

They were proud, but not like they are now.

Connie and Roger Martin have a celebrity daughter, Patti, who won seven medals in the 1985 Junior Olympic Games in Iowa City, Iowa, in August is featured in "Faces in the Crowd" section of the current issue of Sports Illustrated.

The cover story of the Oct. 14 issue features "The Coach," Grambling's Eddie Robinson, who recently celebrated his 50th career victory.

The Granite City High School junior competed in nine events at the University of Iowa campus and emerged with enough gold that Fort Knox is asking for a recall — seven golds. That's not bad, but the gold medals were individual events.

"It was fun. It was great," Martin said Wednesday evening about the Junior Olympics. "An experience that I'll always remember."

"And this is nice, the cup. It was really a surprise," Martin said after receiving a silver cup from Sports Illustrated. "I was mailed to the Press-Record/Journal office to be presented to Martin.

Martin earned the gold medals in the 100-meter freestyle, the 100-meter backstroke, the 200-meter individual medley, the 100-meter butterfly and the 200-meter medley relay. The bronze medals were earned in the 50-meter freestyle and the 100-meter breaststroke.

In addition to the gold medals, Patti also set three new Amateur Athletic Union (AAU) swim records. In the 100-meter butterfly, Martin sliced her way through the water in 1:09.89. In the 200-meter individual medley, the AAU record for the club stood alone at 2:36.94 and was turned in a time of 2:42.21 in the 200-meter backstroke for her third 15-18 age group record.

With all that success, though, Martin has one regret.

There are some very fine swimmers in Granite City, and there are some very fine swimmers in the Illinois state (high school) swim meet. I think we do pretty well."

Martin is now swimming at Granite City High is a club sport without a coach. And, without a coach or chaperone, the would-be swimmers are ineligible.

HONORED SWIMMER. Patti Martin, accepts a silver cup from Press-Record/Journal Executive Sports Editor Alan Gerstenecker while her parents, Roger and Connie Martin look on. The cup, which was mailed to the newspaper office, is from Sports Illustrated, the nationally syndicated sports magazine. Martin is currently featured in that magazine's Faces in the Crowd section for her golden performances in the the Junior Olympics.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Liesmann

Mr., Mrs. Earl Liesmann
celebrate 60th anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Earl P. Liesmann, 3229 Willow Ave., celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary Oct. 12 at a dinner and dance reception at the Christian Home in Mayfield.

The social event was hosted by their children, Mr. and Mrs. Andy (Martha) Swilum, Mr. and Mrs. Mike (Arlene) Naglich and Mrs. Dolores Polson.

More than 300 friends and relatives attended the reception, with out-of-town guests from Florida, Iowa, Kansas and Missouri.

The honorees were married Oct. 17, 1925, at St. Joseph Rectory in Granite City. Frank and Florence Shevick served as their attendants. Mrs. Shevick is Mrs. Liesmann's sister. The couple also attended the anniversary party.

Mr. Liesmann worked as an electrician at Shell Oil Refinery in Wood River for 30 years and retired in 1963. Both are members of St. Margaret Mary Catholic Church, are active in senior citizen bowling leagues and are members of the American Association of Retired Persons.

Mr. and Mrs. Liesmann have 10 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Pontoon Lions plan blood drive Saturday

An American Red Cross blood drive sponsored by the Pontoon Beach Lions and Lioness Club will take place Saturday, Oct. 19, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

It will be held in the Pontoon Beach Senior Citizens Center at Highway 111 and Lily Avenue, directly behind the Pontoon Beach pavilion.

Chairperson of the program is Lion Nelson King and Lioness Lynn Votoupal. They are urging the public to participate.

The final segment of the seminar was highlighted by a display of various hair styles created by Parsons.

HEBREWS 13:8 "JESUS CHRIST THE SAME YESTERDAY, AND TODAY, AND FOREVER."

God is the same. For eternity He is the same. He does not change. His word does not change. His promises do not change. His power, His ability, and His love, do not change.

With an encouragement like this to us we know that God still is in the position of answering prayer. That He is the same to all who call on Him. His promises are true. His word is true. He will in no wise cast out. That no man can pluck you out of His hand. That you may always ask in Jesus' name what you receive.

How easy it is to believe in His power yesterday or tomorrow. But if you need Him, you need Him today. He is always the same.

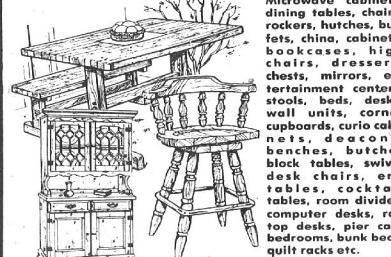

Believe. Today.

Local groups celebrate National BPW Week

Granite City BPW Club

National Business Women's Week will be observed Oct. 20-26 by members of the Granite City Business and Professional Women's Club under the leadership of Joyce Bennington, chairman of the project.

Activities for the week will begin with members attending services at Niedringhaus United Methodist Church at 10:30 a.m. Sunday, Oct. 20, with the club president, Becky Slatte. A brunch will follow at Charlie's Restaurant. On Tuesday, Oct. 22, a group will attend the Granite City Council meeting at 3 p.m. at the Granite City Township Building, and on Oct. 26, members will tour the St. Louis Center and Union Station. They are to meet in the parking lot of the National Store at 6:30 p.m.

A kickoff for the $20,12 project for the National Headquarters will be held and displays will be available all week in area locations.

An exhibit of books of interest to working people will be on display at the Granite City Public Library. At St. Elizabeth Medical Center, there will be a bulletin board honoring women in public life. Posters featuring women in various types of successfully attired business woman and featuring equipment used in the past and present will be in business places on 19th Street between Edison and Delmar avenues.

Two employers who have met the criteria established by the National Federation's Council on the Future of Women in America will receive letters of recognition commending them for their effort on behalf of working women, the chairman said.

Granite City Mayor Von Dee Cruse this week signed a proclamation designating Oct. 20-26 as National Business Women's Week, honoring the more than 47 million working women who have entered all occupations and industries and have made "invaluable contributions to the American economy and worklife," Mrs. slate said.

Gateway BPW Club

Gateway BPW will begin a week of activities marking National Business and Professional Women's Week Oct. 20-26. On Wednesday, a 10:30 a.m. Mass at St. Peter and Paul Catholic Church in Collinsville with the organization's president, Mrs. Judith McCann.

Following the church service, the group will travel to St. Louis for a tour of Union Station, where a luncheon will be held.

LaVelle Stephens is chairman and Ollie Derr co-chairman of the week-long activities. They have announced a legislative dinner is planned for Monday, Oct. 21, at Ervy's Restaurant with Judy Whitaker serving as chairman.

A representative group will attend the City Council meeting on Tuesday, Oct. 22, at the Granite City Council Building beginning at 5 p.m.

To conclude the week's programs, a wine and cheese party will be held at the home of Mrs. Derr on Friday, Oct. 25, at 7 p.m., to honor the club president, Mrs. McCann. Guests are to call Mrs. Stephens at 876-5684 for reservations.

The week during National Business Women's Week, special events will highlight the achievements of working women and their "essential place in the U.S. labor force." In the past 40 years, the number of working women in America has tripled, exceeding 47 million. Women have entered all occupations and industries.

The National Federation of BPW Clubs of the United States and Canada BPW Week, 1982 to dramatize women's contributions to the economic, social and political life of the community, state, nation and world.

For 1985, special activities have been sponsored by the federation and its local organizations to salute working women.

Any working woman interested in attending any of the activities next week are advised to call membership chairman, Judith Puryear at 452-3028 after 5 p.m.

Gateway dinner meetings are on the third Monday of each month.

Embroidery group planned

The Belleville Area College Retired Senior Volunteer Program is seeking volunteers to form an embroidery group. It will meet for four hours, one day a week, at the RSVP Office, 22nd and Iowa Street, Granite City.

The plan is to start out embroidering quilt blocks, and other projects will be decided on later.

Any 60 years of age or older woman interested can call Myrna Kesterson or Jerry Casson at the RSVP office at 876-3223, Monday-Friday, 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Stars of Tomorrow Alton event Nov. 17

Stars of Tomorrow, Beauty and Talent Pageant will be competing that night at Southern Illinois preliminary Nov. 17 at the Ramada Inn, 1900 Bellline, Alton.

Registration time is 11 a.m.

The pageant is to start off all area young people between the ages of 19 and 21 years old, divided in beauty, talent and photographic. This is the official preliminary to the Illinois state finals, which will be held in Peoria June 18-22, 1986.

Contestants will be divided into seven age groups: Pre-Teen, 12-14; Junior, 15-17; Little, 6-9; Senior, 18-21; and Miss, 15-19.

The Little King Division is for boys 10 to 9 years of age. Judging will be based on appearance, poise and personality and will include singing and dancing in costume and formal attire. Entrants into the talent and photographic portion of the competition will be judged separately.

Winners in each division will receive crowns and ribbons and entry fees paid into the state finals. State winners will compete in August at the 1986 National Pageant, planned for Las Vegas, Nev.

The 1985 Illinois winners will be special guests and will be crowning the new Illinois winners. The 1985 Illinois State and National Photo talent winner is 5-year-old Angela Payne of Wood River.

Contestants must be pre-registered by phone or mail on or before the Nov. 1 deadline. To register or receive additional information, those interested may write or phone: Karen Steiner, Illinois State Director, Stars of Tomorrow, 4872 Birch Ave., Rockford, Ill. 61111; 815-877-5258.

Methodist Autumn Bazaar set Oct. 26 at local church

Nameoki United Methodist Church, Pontoon Road and Primrose Avenue, will host its annual Autumn Fest Bazaar and Dinner on Saturday, Oct. 26, in the church fellowship hall.

Those who wish to tour the bazaar area may visit from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. Dinner will be served from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. and the menu will include barbecue pork steaks, baked beans, slaw, dessert and a drink. Tickets may be purchased in advance from any member of the congregation or on the day of the event. Carryouts will also be available.

Holiday shoppers will find a large variety of handmade crafts,

Christmas decorations, household plants and homemade food items. There will be booths for color analysis and white elephant sales; piñata/cake decorating; children's activities and a decorated pumpkin contest.

Booth chairmen include: Craft Corner, Norma Ridlen and the EMB will serve as chef.

Rummage and bake sale at Central Christian

The Christian Women's Fellowship of Central Christian Church has announced a fall rummage sale and bake sale for Oct. 19 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the church fellowship hall. Chairman Lois Ann Bilbrey said there will be children's clothing, books, games and homemade pies, cakes, breads, candies and more. The public is invited, she added.

Two year planning calendars will be on sale at the event, and sketched pictures of the church drawn by Debbie Rutledge, will serve as the cover. They will sell for $2 each.

Funds for CWF fall programs and assemblies include an Oct. 22 Church Women United fall institute in Springfield, Ill.; CWF Area Assembly at the First Christian Church, with Rick Lance speaking on Alzheimer's disease; World Community Day Nov. 1; and a CWU world service project to meet medical needs.

The program for the evening was given by Dorothea Rivenburgh on "Stewards of the Earth." The worship was led by Ruth Lelik, and a solo was sung by Lois Ann Bilbrey. This Is My Father's World "Doris Clark served a dessert lunch and it was noted that the Nov. 7 meeting will feature a layette shower.

Health kits were assembled as a service project. This year's theme is "Weep, Laugh and Love" and Nola Nutter spoke on tragedy, comedy and mystery from the Bible.

Pastoral care services growing

Pastoral Care Week will be observed Oct. 20-26 at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, Granite City. It will be the first week-long recognition given to pastoral care by the Catholic Hospital Association.

The Catholic Pastoral Care Department will have an open house for hospital associates (employees) on Monday, Oct. 21, from 1 to 3 p.m., to acquaint them with services offered by the department.

An ecumenical healing and affirmation service will be held Saturday, Oct. 22, at 2 p.m., in the hospital chapel. The Rev. Donald Heck of the Archdiocese of St. Louis will officiate. This service will be for hospital associates as well as patients.

A Mass of Anointing is planned Friday, Oct. 25, in the chapel. The sacrament will be available to anyone attending — patients and staff members.

"Pastoral care is not 'marketed' deeply in our hospital setting," according to the Rev. Jim Wasson, director of pastoral care at SEMC, "but many hospitals are coming to recognize the benefits of pastoral care visits. Patients and their families often remember the extra care and concern received through this department."

SEMC has been conducting a closed-circuit television ministry on its Channel 13 since last Easter. The Mass is televised live seven days a week at 8 p.m. on the channel. Ecumenical worship service. Seventeen Protestant ministers now participate.

A three-to-five minute meditation to start and end each day's regular programming is in the offing for the first of next year, according to Fr. Wasson. He also hopes to initiate a Protestant minister program.

The Pastoral Care Department is a service provided by SEMC to help meet the spiritual needs of patients, their families and SEMC staff.

The four full-time ministers on staff are Fr. Wasson, Rev. Finian McMullin, OFM, Sister Mary William, CDP, and Sister Geraldine, CDP. Department hours are 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily, seven days a week, with emergency on-call service 24 hours a day.

Revival begins Sunday at Second Baptist

Second Baptist Church, 2000 Illinois Ave., is inviting the public to its revival beginning Sunday morning, Oct. 20, at 7:30 a.m.

Walter Ayers, an evangelist from Garland, Texas, will bring Bible-based messages at every service. He has spoken at the Southern Baptist Convention and at the First Baptist Church, Dallas, Texas, and has presented his comments over 700 times.

The Rev. Carl R. Watkins is pastor. Gary Wigger, interim music director, is planning special music for the services.

Nature, culture hike at Mounds

How did the Indians utilize different plants for food, medicine, clothing, cordage and shelter? What was the culture of the prehistoric mound builders? Answers will be provided at a nature and culture hike at the Alton Mounds Historic Site, 7800 Columbia Rd., Saturday, Oct. 19, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Experienced staff members will lead a five-mile hike around the grounds, passing through prairie and forest areas, and discussing various flowers, plants and trees and how they were used by the Mississippi Indians.

Many remote areas will be visited.

The hikers will also pass over 50 mounds and many areas where artifacts have been found.

The four full-time ministers on staff are Fr. Wasson, Rev. Finian McMullin, OFM, Sister Mary William, CDP, and Sister Geraldine, CDP. Department hours are 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily, seven days a week, with emergency on-call service 24 hours a day.

The hike will begin at 9 a.m. by recommended Indian houses before the museum. A lunch break is planned at noon at a building where restrooms and sodas are available.

Participants may drop out at any time during the hike, and others may join after lunch if they are unable to make the morning starting time.

Participants should wear shoes or boots suitable for hiking and bring insect repellent and a canteen. Jackets may be needed if the weather is cool.

The hike is free and open to all ages. In case of rain, it will be postponed to the following day, Sunday, Oct. 20, at the same times.

Bowl for Life to aid St. Jude research center

The Midwestern Regional Office for St. Jude Children's Research Hospital announced today that the annual Bowl for Life in Granite City will be conducted for the fifth consecutive year on Nov. 10. Local Mrs. Shirley Byrd has volunteered to coordinate the event.

The hospital was opened in Memphis, Tenn., in 1962 to combat catastrophic diseases afflicting children. St. Jude is a non-sectarian, non-discriminatory research and treatment center for cancer.

Patients are referred by their local physician and no money has ever been turned away because of inability to pay. At present, half of newly-diagnosed leukemia patients at St. Jude can be expected to be cured. Research and progress at the Memphis facility are shared with the medical community worldwide.

Nearly 70 per cent of the operating budget comes from voluntary contributions.

Bowlers will be asking citizens to sponsor a team or a pin for participation in the event.

Sponsor forms are now available at the bowling center.

Churches' yard sale to aid new Phoenix home

A gigantic yard sale, sponsored by the six United Methodist Churches in Granite City and Madison, will be held in a parking lot of the Nameoki United Methodist Church Saturday, Oct. 19, beginning at 9 a.m. The church is located at Ponson Road and Murdoch Avenue.

All proceeds of this sale will go toward the red of the new church building in Granite City that houses abused women and children. The United Methodist churches have taken responsibility for the first six months rent for the new structure.

Donations to the sale will be welcomed, a spokesman said. Anyone with questions or items to donate can contact any of the United Methodist churches in the area: Trinity, Nickel Plate, Nameoki, First, Wesley, Good Shepherd or Madison. Cash contributions for the safe-house will also be accepted.

67 million a minority

The People's Republic of China has 55 minorities, totaling some 67 million people. But 93 percent of the population of more than a billion is Chinese.

KEEP ON PRAYING is the theme of a nine-week series promoting a fall Sunday school drive at the First Baptist Church, 3940 Highway 111, the Rev. Wayne Musatko announced.

Guest speakers will include Dr. Silas Howell, who will discuss underground evangelism in China. Gospel singers, The Soul Searchers, will visit and there will be a film presentation, foreign missionaries, an old-fashioned day with special programs, and awards for children and adults.

Evening services are at 7 and 8 p.m. A nursery is planned for each service.

GRACE BAPTIST Church, 2600 Edwards St., will host a basic Sunday school book conference from 7 to 9 p.m. Oct. 20.

An Illinois deacons, pastors and wives' conference will convene Friday and Saturday at the First Baptist Church, West Franklin, Ill. Guest speaker will be the Rev. Wendell Garrison, a former Quad-City minister.

NINE DELEGATES representing the Daughters of Isabella organization in the Quad-City area were among 400 women attending the 57th annual meeting of the Springfield Diocesan Council of Catholic Women held in Collinsville.

The council is a federation of 153 Catholic women's organizations in the Springfield Diocese which covers 29 parishes and 10 missions and is sponsored by Bishop Daniel L. Ryan, D.D.

Attending from St. Mary's parish in Madison were the Rev. Frank Kordke, O.P., Sister Barbara Kostman, C.D.P., Mary Donoff, Mary Ann Bunk, Vera Sikora and Genevieve McClure.

Irm A. Manning, Dorothy Hoedebeck and Ann Parry represented the Altar Society of St. Joseph's parish in Granite City.

A FALL COLOR TRIP is being sponsored by Niedringhaus United Methodist Church Saturday, Oct. 19.

Buses will leave the church parking lot at 8 a.m. and travel to Fulton, Mo. to see Churchill's Memorial and then to Columbia, Mo., for lunch.

Groundbreaking ceremonies slated for dental clinic

ALTON — Ground-breaking ceremonies for a new clinic for the Southern Illinois University School of Dental Medicine is scheduled Thursday, Oct. 24, at 10:30 a.m. at the Alton campus.

State legislators, representatives of the Capital Development Board and the Illinois Board of Higher Education and representatives of national, state and local dental associations are among those who have indicated they will participate in the ceremonies.

Costs of the $3.5-million project are being reviewed by the CDB and contracts are expected to be awarded next week.

The Chicago-based firm of Graham, Anderson, Probst and White is the architect for the dental education facility.

The new building will include more than 10,000 square feet for clinics, clinical support areas, offices and general use by the School of Dental Medicine. It will have a total of 72 dental operatories, with 25 to 30 additional chairs in the various support areas (x-ray, surgery, oral pathology).

It will be located on the west side of Annex Street, across the street from the existing clinic, south of the Center for Professional Advancement building.

The SIU School of Dental Medicine was established in 1972 in response to a need for dental practitioners in the state, particularly in the central and southern portions. The majority of the SIU/SDM graduates are practicing dentists in the state.

More than 100 students to complete the dental program received their degrees in 1975. Since that time, the dental program has been expanded from a three-year to a four-year degree program. Approximately 48 students enter the program each year.

The school's dental clinic is presently housed in a barracks-type building constructed in 1940 and renovated for the opening of the dental clinic.

Almost 34,000 patient visits were recorded at the dental clinic during fiscal year 1984-85, with approximately 2,500 new patients registering at the facility during the same period.

George Ball

Ambassador Ball to speak at SIUE

EDWARDSVILLE — Ambassador George W. Ball will speak at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville on Wednesday, Oct. 23, at 8 p.m. in the Meridian Hall.

The ambassador will address the topic, "Interactions of Current United States Foreign and Domestic Policies."

Ambassador Ball's address is the first in the university's Arts and Issues series. Included in the series will be performers such as Alvin Alley Repertory Ensemble, Morton National Theater of the Dance and the Chamber Society of Lincoln Center. Other speakers include John Galbraith, Edwin Newman and Dr. Michael DeBakey. A special South Africa program is scheduled Feb. 5 and 6.

Ambassador Ball served as Undersecretary of State for Economic Affairs and later Undersecretary of State during the Kennedy administration. As a specialist in international law and commercial relations, he played an active role as advisor to M. Jean Mommet in the preliminary work that led to the creation of the European Coal and Steel Community and later the European Common Market.

Ambassador Ball holds the U.S. Medal of Freedom, is an Order of the Italian Republic, a Honoree Grande Ufficiale of the Order of Merit of the Italian Republic and has been awarded the Belgian Grand Cross of the Order of the Crown. He is the author of three books: The Discipline of Power, Diplomacy for a New World and The Past Has Another Pattern.

Tickets for Ambassador Ball's address are $3 for the general public, including SIUE faculty and staff, and are available at the SIUE Box Office, SIUE students, as well as area university and community college students, and high school honor students, may obtain free tickets to all events at the University Center. Tickets for the Arts and Issues series also are available. Admission tickets include free parking in the visitors' lot next to the University Center. For ticket information, interested persons may call 1-692-2230 or write to University Ticket Office, Campus Box 1067, SIUE, Edwardsville, Ill. 62062-1067.

Energy workshop offered

EDWARDSVILLE — The energy situation will be explored in a two-week workshop series sponsored by the Center for Economic Education at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. The center will present "How and Why We Got Where We Are and Hints of the Future" in four evening classes aimed at classroom teachers beginning Oct. 22. Registration also is open to others who apply.

The workshops are made possible by a grant from the Central Illinois Public Service Co.

John Sharp, assistant director of the SIUE Center, said, "The energy issue is a continuing one. We can't dismiss the topic just because the gasoline shortage is over."

The workshop from SIUE will be John Meisel of the department of economics faculty and David Ault, assistant dean of the School of Business.

The workshop sessions will be on Tuesdays from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. and will be refreshments will be provided before each session. Meeting dates and topics are Oct. 22, "The Energy Industries of the United States;" Oct. 29, "The Petroleum Industry; Gasoline Prices When and Now;" Nov. 5, "Fossil Fuel and Electricity;" and Nov. 12, "Rate Determination and Regulation" with Stanford Levin of the Illinois Commerce Commission.

For registration information, persons may contact John Sharp at 1-692-2322.

Free series set for senior citizens

EDWARDSVILLE — The senior citizens program at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will offer a series of free educational and cultural enrichment programs for older people during the coming academic year.

The programs are scheduled on Wednesdays from 1:30 until 4 p.m. in the Mississippi/Illinois rooms of the University Center.

The schedule of programs, scheduled during October, November and December, includes Oct. 1, Dr. Sienkiewicz Kerr, concert pianist, "China: View from a Piano Bench;" Oct. 30, F. Henry Firsching, professor of chemistry at SIUE, "Nuclear Winter;" Nov. 6, James M. Henslin, professor of sociology at SIUE, "Who Lives on Those Mean Streets?" Nov. 13, Sherman Marshall, doctoral candidate in education curriculum and instruction, "Let There Be Peace;" Nov. 20, Patricia R. Fawcett, dean of the SIUE School of Nursing, "Old Age Care in Sweden and Finland;" and Dr. Paul Sultan, professor of management at SIUE, "Perspectives of the Past: Visions of the Future."

Additional information may be obtained by contacting the SIUE gerontology program, at 1-692-3454.

On campus-briefs

SIU at Edwardsville

CENTER FOR ECONOMIC EDUCATION at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will sponsor a business lead/teacher seminar at the University, Oct. 17. The purpose of the occasion is to bring members of the teaching profession and members of the business community closer together.

The evening's activities will include a panel discussion on the surrounding deregulation of financial institutions and its impact on the industry and the consumer. Additional information may be received by contacting John Sharp at 1-692-2322.

THE STUDENT PROGRAM BOARD and the Faculty Club of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will present a comedy night club at 8 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 18, in the Faculty Club Satellite and University Club Restaurant in the University Center. Comedians scheduled to perform include Bert Hartmann, Dan Gowan and Joe Mariano of the St. Louis Funnies-Comedy Club.

Admission is $2 for SIUE students, faculty and staff and $3 for the general public. A cash bar will also be available. For more information, interested persons may call the SPB at 1-692-2617.

RON COHEN'S "SUMMERTREE," a drama of love and war, will open the 1985-86 season at the Metcalf Studio Theater at Southern Illinois University on Oct. 17 with three performances from Thursday through Saturday, Oct. 17 to 19, at 8:15 p.m.

The central character in the drama is a young college student who wishes to study music, in conflict with his father who has other ambitions for him. Admission to all performances is free, but because of seating limitations, reservations should be made by calling 1-692-2617.

AGS AND ADAMS in the 1985-86 exhibition, "Greatest Hits from Chicago," will be on display in the University Center Gallery at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville through Friday, Nov. 1. The 19 works feature 15 watercolors, two acrylic pieces and two with silver pencil on black paper.

Gallery hours at the SIUE University Center Gallery are Mondays through Fridays, from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

SIUE book fair set at Lovejoy Library

EDWARDSVILLE — Two new features at the 12th annual Southern Illinois Book Fair, from Saturday through Monday, Oct. 19 to 21, include older things, vintage records, including many 78 rpm of big bands, jazz and classical music, and antique prints and maps will be available for discriminating buyers.

The Friends of Lovejoy Library event also will be held in a new local tion, in the Lovejoy Library basement auditorium lounge, with free parking on Saturday and Sunday in Lots A and D adjoining the library building. There will be special pricing, sale from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 19, for which there will be a $2 admission charge.

This year's event includes standard items sold at previous book fairs: turn-of-the-century old magazines, classical literature, old postcards, reference works, art books, other antiquarian items, travel and children's books, Americana and historical science volumes and biographies. The books for sale are both hard-bound and paperback.

Admission is free on Saturday from 1 to 6 p.m., Sunday from noon to 6 p.m., and Monday from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. For further information on the fair, interested persons may contact Donna Barton at 1-692-2711.

Workshop to prepare for Arts Festival

EDWARDSVILLE — Area teachers and parents who wish to bring their children to the Very Special Arts Festival (VSAF) at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will sponsor a bus trip to the festival at the University Center, Oct. 19, to 21, include older things, vintage records, including many 78 rpm of big bands, jazz and classical music, and antique prints and maps will be available for discriminating buyers.

The in-service program begins at 4 p.m. with registration at Six-Mile Lounge, followed by dinner in the Meridian Ballroom in the University Center. Dinner entertainment will include "World of Rainbows," the theme song presentation, and stories from the arts and children will share how the arts and VSAF have made a difference in the education and lives of the children.

Specialized workshops, beginning at 6:30 p.m. in the Conference Center, include:

"Joy to the World," taught by Annette Harrison, St. Louis, from Young Audiences in St. Louis.

"Motion — The Dancer's World of Expression," taught by Lorrie Schaeffer, from the Illinois Department of the Mid-America Dance Company's Aesthetic Education Programs.

"Envision Your World," taught by Dennis Morris, Springfield, Illinois, who has presented workshops in Illinois and at the National Art Education Association Conference.

"A World of Musical Experiences," taught by Pat Sheehan, St. Louis, from Young Audiences in St. Louis.

"Using Art to Express Your World," taught by Susan O'Connor, Clayton, Mo., art therapist with the SIUE art therapy program.

Registration is $11 for the workshops, including dinner, and $5 for those who wish to attend only the workshops.

For more information, interested persons may contact Diane Savoca, director of the SIUE Very Special Arts Program, at 1-692-2037.

GC opposing new legislation on annexations

GRANITE CITY—A proposed bill to make it more difficult to annex a township's property was unanimously passed Tuesday. It was noted by the Township Board.

"This could really stunt the growth in the future," Granite City Mayor Von Dee Cruse said of House Bill 1467.

The legislation is pending in the Illinois Senate, said Mark Goldenberg, city attorney.

The measure would mean a township referendum on the ballot each time another government entity wanted to annex a piece of the township's property.

Citing the township's resolution opposing HB 1467, Trustee Sam Whitmer said future economic growth in Granite City could be hurt by the bill.

The measure has surfaced in other years, but had the support of Sen. Sam Vadalabene, D-Eduardsville, Cruse said.

He said townships this year have worked hard for the measure and it might have a better chance, which means options for groups such as Granite City Township might be necessary to defeat the bill.

The issue relates to city-towns like Granite City and Alton that have had identical boundaries. Rural townships are free to change their boundaries, added Whitmer.

"The original cost of maintaining each local phone line, for example, customers paid those local services costs through higher long-distance rates. The long-distance revenue was pooled and distributed among local telephone companies based on the costs of each company," he said.

The FCC also approved a 25 percent decrease in rates paid by long-distance companies for their connections to Illinois Bell.

"Illinois Bell's revenues won't change with this adjustment, since the 40-percent increase is offset by the decrease in rates paid by the long-distance companies," he said.

Even with this increase, Illinois Bell's charge is well below the $6 charge allowed by the FCC.

The original bill plan to ask the Illinois Commerce Commission to reduce current rates by making them more comparable to the increase for PBX (Private Branch Exchange) business users.

Illinois Bell also approved a 25 percent decrease in rates paid by long-distance companies for their connections to Illinois Bell.

Trick-or-treat guide in Quad-Cities

Goblins, ghosts and things that go bump in the night will once again be haunting the Quad-Cities this Halloween, Oct. 31. Sometimes this evening of fun and excitement can be turned into a night of tragedy, a St. Elizabeth Medical Center spokesman warned today.

In an effort to help make this Halloween a safe and memorable one, SEMC has put together the following tips:

Proper Visibility

Visibility is important for safety. Children are more easily spotted by drivers if they are dressed up in bright colored costumes and wear a white wash.

Give each child a flashlight, not candles, and make sure each knows not to shine it in anyone's eyes — particularly their own.

Costume Safety Tips

Make each costume short enough so the child will not trip when going up and down steps. Use bright colors or big patterns of white to give good visibility. Use a fire-retardant fabric or treat material with a chemical fire-retardant.

When making masks or hoods, allow large enough holes to ensure easy breathing and good vision. If possible, use mirrors or face paints instead of a mask. If facemasks are used, make sure they are non-poisonous and wash off easily.

Use a small flashlight, not candles, to light jack-o'-lanterns.

What Trick-or-treat?

Better days are the best time for trick-or-treating, especially for very young children, who should always be accompanied by an adult. For older children set a curfew — 9 p.m. is a good time — and be firm about it.

Where To Go

Children should be instructed to stay in their own neighborhood, and to call on the people they know and trust. Remind them of basic safety precautions: stay on sidewalks and crosswalks; do not cut through yards and vacant lots; skip houses that have no outside lights; and do not go in the home of anyone the children do not know well.

Make Treats Healthy

Instead of candy, give packaged cheese and cracker snacks, dried fruit, nuts or other health foods. Give coins only to older children, who are less likely to swallow them.

Alert your children to watch for the tricks in their treats. Explain that some adults, who have never really grown up, think it is funny to give or return things that are bad and, unfortunately, it is very hard to tell that there is something wrong with their "treat."

Before they go out, make sure they know not to eat anything until they get home, and they should check to see if you may want to give your children snacks to take along in case they get hungry.

How to Check Treats

Throw away anything that is unwrapped, rewrapped, has torn wrapping or has been dropped for small holes to be sure nothing has been injected through them. Cut fruit open and inspect carefully for needles or other foreign objects.

Have Treats X-rayed

The St. Elizabeth Medical Center is offering to X-ray children's trick-or-treat candy free of charge.

Parents may bring their children's candy to the Radiology Department at the medical center between 1 p.m. and 10 p.m. on Halloween. Thursday, Oct. 31, using either of the 21st Street entrances.

Metal objects will show up on the X-rays. However, non-metallic substances, such as ground glass or clay, will not be detected, so parents are advised to inspect their children's candy carefully before allowing them to eat any of it.

Parents are asked to remove any coins from the trick-or-treat bags, as these will show up on the X-ray.

Candy should be kept in a small or medium-sized bag. Very large bags are too big to show up completely on the X-ray.

Children are given their X-rays to keep.

Free parking is available in the 21st Street garage on Halloween night.

In an Emergency

If your child gets sick, try to find out exactly what he or she ate and where it came from. Call your doctor immediately, or contact the SEMC emergency room at 759-3066. If possible, call Police at 798-5005.

The important thing is to keep calm and act quickly. Have emergency numbers close at hand should the need arise, the SEMC spokesman concluded.

Licenses of 4 area drivers are revoked

The Illinois secretary of state has ordered the drivers licenses of four area residents revoked, following convictions for driving while under the influence of alcohol.

Shirley J. Hubbs, 26 Sunny Shores Mobile Home Park, arrested May 20 and convicted Sept. 11.

Kenneth W. Noe, 4257 Highway 211, arrested July 10 and convicted Sept. 11.

Clifford T. Robinson, 1928 Lynn Ave., arrested June 29 and convicted Aug. 2.

Larry T. White, 211 Louisa St., arrested Jan. 3 and convicted Aug. 30.
